

Admission to ISM Doctoral Studies with a Targeted Scholarship for Sustainability Research

Are you a dedicated scholar ready to embark on an immersive academic journey? ISM University of Management and Economics offers the Targeted Sustainability Scholarship for doctoral research for the 2024 admission cycle.

The Targeted Sustainability Scholarship is designed for full-time doctoral studies lasting four years, focusing specifically on research related to sustainability. Thematic field - From Compliance to Value Creation: The Role of Corporate Governance in Sustainability.

What We Offer:

- Fully funded PhD tuition fees and a scholarship of 1045 EUR/month for the first study year, increasing to 1210 EUR/month for the second through fourth study years, along with an additional grant of 600 EUR/month.
- Appreciative communication and a cooperative spirit within our academic community.
- Excellent learning and development opportunities.
- Scope for creativity, pursuing your own ideas, and demonstrating self-initiative in both research and teaching.
- Supervision and developmental feedback to support writing scientific publications, regular attendance at international conferences, opportunities to establish a professional network, and the possibility of a research stay abroad.
- Budget allocation for fieldwork, courses abroad, and conference participation.

Requirements:

- A Master's degree or equivalent higher education qualification.
- Scientific experience, including participation in scientific activities.
- Proficiency in English.

How to Apply:

Applications should be submitted by the 30th of August 2024. Candidates will be selected based on their research proposal and their fulfillment of the admission criteria for ISM Doctoral Studies.

If you are interested or have any questions, please contact the Doctoral Studies Officer, Ugnė Gervickaitė, at ugnger@ism.lt.

Join our team at ISM University of Management and Economics—an esteemed institution where scholarly excellence meets professional opportunity, and where your potential knows no bounds. We eagerly anticipate receiving your application!